NH SECURITIES BUREAU SUSPENDS FLORIDA COMPANY'S LICENSE

Concord, N.H. (January 26, 2005) The New Hampshire Bureau of Securities Regulation announced today it has revoked the license of LH Ross Company, a broker/dealer located in Boca Raton, Florida. A default order was issued to LH Ross January 17, revoking the company's right to do business within the state of New Hampshire. Bureau spokesman Scott Kirby said there are about two dozen New Hampshire investors who currently have accounts with LH Ross. "We want to alert existing clients as well as potential investors that LH Ross is prohibited from carrying on business within the state at this time," said Kirby.

A staff petition was issued by the Bureau stating allegations the company sold unregistered securities within the state of New Hampshire. If any New Hampshire investor has any questions regarding the order, they should call the New Hampshire Bureau of Securities Regulation toll free at 800-994-4200.
