Temple.

Temple was granted in 1750 by the Masonian Proprietors and called "Peterborough Slip," which was later changed to "Slip town." This included what is now Sharon. The town was incorporated in 1768 and the name changed to Temple in honor of John Temple, Ephrhim Heald called the first town meeting in 1768, and for many years there was dispute of land between Temple and New Ipswich, which was finally annexed to Temple. "Borland's Farm," was annexed in 1781, part of Peterborough in 1789 and part of Lyndeborough in 1796.
