ARE WE MISSING THE MARK?

2022 FALL LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

Boston, MA • Sept 29 - Oct 1

AGENDA

Program Objectives:

---

- Address myths and realities regarding gun violence in America
- Learn effective crisis communication methods to use in the event of a tragedy
- Examine the various types of violence and prevalence of each (mass shootings, school shootings, intimate partner and family homicides, and gang violence)
- Learn from national experts so you can base your policies on facts, not fear
- Explore strategies for finding a bipartisan consensus to address public safety issues
- Discuss particular strategies that are most likely to work in your state

Breakfast

The Newbury Hotel - Garden Room
(Breakfast will stay open until 9:00 am for spouses and guests)

Friday Sessions will be held on the 17th Floor of East Village, Northeastern University

8:15 am

Meet in lobby to depart promptly for Northeastern University

8:45–9:00 am

Introductions and Welcoming Remarks

Dr. Thomas H. Little, SLLF

Robert DeLeo, Northeastern University and former Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives

9:00–10:15 am

Mass Shootings in Schools, Workplaces, and Other Public Settings

Dr. James Alan Fox, Northeastern University

Recent mass shootings resulting in a large number of fatalities have shocked the American public, with many believing there to be an epidemic of bloodshed and even avoiding certain places. This presentation will examine the trends, patterns, and contributing factors underlying these tragedies with special attention to school massacres. The widespread concern that mass shootings are surging has encouraged a number of policy proposals—some worthwhile yet others ill-advised. This presentation will attempt to add perspective to perceptions of risk and critically assess some of the solutions that have been advanced by politicians and the public alike.

10:15–10:45 am The Response: What leaders can do in the aftermath of a shooting

Sarah Peck, Director, UnitedOnGuns, Northeastern University (Virtual)

Fear, shock, disbelief. It's finally happened in your district. While you have no words to describe what you are feeling, there are suddenly cameras pointed at you and constituents demanding action and answers. Sarah Peck has written the playbook on the most effective ways leaders can respond after the unthinkable happens in their own backyards.

10:45–11:00 am

Break

11:00 am–12:00 pm

Victim Care and Support in the Aftermath of Violent Crime

Kristina Rose, Director of the Office for Victims of Crime, US Department of Justice

Director Rose will discuss the importance of a victim-centered, trauma-informed response to victims of violent crime and surviving family members of homicide victims. She will share lessons learned from Federally-funded programs addressing intimate partner homicide, resources available to assist communities in the aftermath of a mass violence incident, and reflections from visits to the communities of Buffalo, NY and Uvalde, TX.

12:00–1:00 pm

Lunch

Dr. Joseph E. Aoun, President, Northeastern University

1:00–1:45 pm

Hate-motivated Assaults

Dr. Jack McDevitt, Northeastern University

Why are hate crimes committed? Jack McDevitt literally wrote the book on what motivates hate crime offenders. He will detail the four main types of motivations based on his extensive research:

offenders who commit their crimes for the excitement or the thrill, offenders who view themselves as defending their turf, offenders who are reacting to a prior event or crime and a small group of offenders whose life's mission is to rid the world of groups they consider evil or inferior.

1:45–3:00 pm

Policing Gun Violence

Dr. Anthony Braga, University of Pennsylvania

Police can reduce gun violence if properly motivated, staffed, and guided. This presentation reviews four key areas in which the police can better position themselves to control gun violence: (1) addressing gun violence hot spots, 2) using focused deterrence to prevent gang violence, (3) strengthening shooting investigations, and (4) disrupting the underground gun markets that arm violent offenders. Police departments also need to embrace reform, redouble community policing efforts, and ensure lawful and procedurally just encounters with the public.

3:00–3:15 pm

Break

3:15–4:00 pm

Gun Violence is a Public Health Problem: What Does that Actually Mean?

Dr. Michael Siegel, Tufts University School of Medicine

We've all heard the latest mantra: gun violence is a public health problem. We may even all agree with this mantra. But what does it really mean? This session will explore the implications of viewing gun violence as a public health problem.

4:15 pm

Return to Hotel

4:30–5:45 pm

Free Time

6:00 pm

Meet in lobby to depart promptly for dinner

6:30 pm

26 Fan Pier Boulevard, Boston, MA 02210*

Saturday, October 1, 2022

7:00–9:00 am

Breakfast

The Newbury Hotel - Garden Room

Saturday Sessions will be held at The Newbury Hotel in the Garden Room

- 9:00–10:00 am How Courts Deal with Violent Crime
Hon. Roderick Ireland
Distinguished Professor of Criminology and Criminal Justice,
Northeastern University
- In this session the former Chief Justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court will touch on the general approach courts take in every criminal case and the effects it has on the different stages of a criminal trial, including sentencing.*
- 10:00–10:15 am Break
- 10:15–11:15 am How the U.S. Senate Found Common Ground (Virtual)
Sen. Chris Murphy, United States Senate (Connecticut)
Sen. Thom Tillis, United States Senate (North Carolina)
- How did the country's first significant gun legislation in nearly 30 years advance through congress? U.S. Senators Chris Murphy and Thom Tillis, two of the primary architects of the final bill, will join us virtually to detail the roles they played in getting this bipartisan legislation to the President's desk and discuss the compromises that were made and the hurdles that were overcome.*
- 11:15 am–12:00 pm Table Conversations: What Will Work in Your State?
- By Noon Hotel check-out
