3:00 PM – 4:00 PM

WHAT IS A WELL-FUNCTIONING CHILD PROTECTION SYSTEM?

ROOM: TRAILBLAZERS BALLROOM D-E

As part of this interactive session, we will explore the role of a well-functioning child protection system to ensure the safety of children. The session will focus on national data trends and the context and impact of state statutory definitions of neglect on how, and which, children and families are investigated by child protective services. The session also will elevate how to target resources toward evidence-based practices for families when child protective services involvement is necessary, as well as how to build systems of prevention and supports for families in need of support. We also will explore the role of policy in improving outcomes for children and families in their state.

9:15 AM – 10:15 AM

END CASH BAIL – AND THEN WHAT?

ROOM: KIERLAND GRAND BALLROOM 1B-1C

Eliminating “cash bail” has been a major political movement over the last decade, and yet little debate has been had as to what the new system would look like. In this session, three national experts will educate state policymakers by providing a framework for understanding bail reforms and evaluating the policy impacts of various proposed pretrial reforms. The experts will explain landmark research on the federal and New York models and provide useful tips on how to avoid the pitfalls of such reforms while also reducing unnecessary pretrial incarceration.

10:30 AM – 11:30 AM

PRESCRIPTION DRUG AFFORDABILITY ACCESS: 340B, STATE REFORMS & FEDERAL OUTLOOK

ROOM: KIERLAND GRAND BALLROOM 1B-1C

340B is the second largest prescription drug program administered by the federal government and one of the least understood. Created in 1992 to help vulnerable patients gain better access to medicines at hospitals and clinics, the program has seen monumental growth in recent years. This workshop will discuss the basics of the program, why federal program reform is needed, and recent state actions on the issue, hospital transparency, and legislative proposals states have pursued to address prescription drug affordability and access.

10:30 AM – 11:30 AM

ESG AND THE PEOPLE’S REPUBLIC OF CHINA: PROTECTING NATIONAL SECURITY

ROOM: TRAILBLAZERS BALLROOM D-E

Politically motivated investing strategies, such as Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) investing, put political crusades ahead of investment returns. These strategies threaten retirement fund solvency as millions of dollars in foregone investment returns are left on the table and taxpayers are expected to make up the difference. With this, the Chinese Communist Party is taking advantage of the ESG movement to harm affordable, reliable American energy while building their capability, making it imperative that states consider how their investments affect U.S. national security interests. This workshop will educate on how states can protect national security while keeping the promises made to retirees and taxpayers by identifying and avoiding politically motivated investing strategies.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29

9:15 AM – 10:15 AM

ARTICLE V: THE PEOPLE’S VOICE AND STATE’S EMPOWERMENT TOOL

ROOM: TRAILBLAZERS BALLROOM D-E

Join us for an enlightening workshop where legal experts will delve into the merits of a Declaratory Judgment suit against Congress, specifically addressing its negligence since 1979 in calling a Convention for an inflation-fighting Fiscal Responsibility Amendment. Additionally, this is an opportunity for state legislators to explore the vital role they play in safeguarding the nation’s future and ensuring the voice of the people is heard to preserve what matters most.

BREAKOUT BREAKFAST

BREAKOUT 1:

REGULATORY REFORM: HOW STATES ARE SUPERCHARGING ECONOMIC GROWTH

ROOM: RAINMAKERS BALLROOM

State-level regulatory restrictions vary from 39,000 (Idaho) to 396,000 (California). While some state-level regulations are necessary in protecting citizens, too many regulations stifle economic growth, harming individuals' financial wellbeing. States have a huge opportunity in front of them, and some states have already acted. Let's talk about the three states that have made bold changes to their regulatory systems in pursuit of economic progress.

BREAKOUT 2:

8:00 AM – 9:00 AM

RANKED-CHOICE VOTING THREATENS STATE AND LOCAL CONTROL OF ELECTIONS

ROOM: HERBERGER BALLROOM

Federalism recognizes states as the fundamental level of government empowering them with primacy over state and local elections, and over many aspects of federal elections. However, special interests are pushing a novel and complicated election process called ranked-choice voting (RCV). Join us for a Breakout Breakfast to learn more about RCV and other related systems like approval voting and STAR voting. Those advancing these alternative ballot mechanisms often they try to enact them in local jurisdictions, creating a conflict between local and state election processes and have also introduced federal legislation to force RCV on the states. ALEC model policy can help your state protect your vote!

9:15 AM – 10:15 AM

USING THE THREE LANGUAGES OF SCHOOL CHOICE TO IMPROVE POLICY COMMUNICATION

ROOM: TRAILBLAZERS BALLROOM D-E

This workshop introduces attendees to needed tools to transcend politics and find common ground with others, even in today's polarized political environment. The presented workshop is inspired by The Three Languages of School Choice: How to Have Better Conversations about Education Freedom, published in 2023 by EdChoice Senior Research Analyst John Kristof.
