	Total: $4,000.00

EXPLANATION

NHDES and the Attorney General's Office (AGO) benefit greatly from our joint membership in NEEP, and the value of training benefits derived from membership far exceed the modest dues. NEEP was formed in 1980 to address the need for interstate cooperation among environmental enforcement officials in the northeast to investigate and prosecute environmental crimes. New Hampshire's membership entity is NHDES, responsible for environmental regulatory activities. The AGO is also represented under this membership, responsible for civil and criminal investigation and prosecution. NEEP provides its members with high-quality training programs and responsive information services that NHDES relies upon to successfully train regulatory and enforcement staff.

Listed below are answers to standard questions required for Governor and Council organization dues and membership approval submissions:

- How long has this organization been in existence and how long has this agency been a member of this organization? The organization has been in existence since 1980 and New Hampshire has been a member since 1980.
- Is there any other organization which provides the same or similar benefits which your agency belongs to? No, this is the only organization to which NHDES belongs that provides multi-disciplined environmental enforcement training.
- How many other states belong to this organization and is your agency the sole New Hampshire state agency that is a member? 11 entities representing 8 states and the District of Columbia are full NEEP members. NHDES holds the entity membership and under this membership the AGO is also represented and able to take advantage of NEEP's services. NEEP is one of the four Regional Environmental Enforcement Associations, the others being the Midwest Environmental Enforcement Association, the Southern Environmental Enforcement Network and the Western States Project.
- How is the dues structure established? (Standard fee for all states, based on population, based on other criteria, etc.) The dues are a structured fee of $4,000 per state with a population less than 5 million people, $7,000 for a population between 5 to 10 million and $10,000 for a population of 10 million or more.
- What benefit does the state receive from participating in this membership? The state receives enormous benefits from membership in a number of ways. First, the state takes full advantage of the high-quality training programs provided to our regulators, investigators and attorneys. In 2018, NEEP and NHDES hosted an in-state training event that provided compliance and enforcement training to 89 State of New Hampshire employees, as well as four attendees from neighboring states. A similar training is scheduled to be held in 2021. Second, NEEP's Board of Directors and Representatives have conference meetings, two per year, that provide up-to-date information on national environmental enforcement issues, information exchange and NEEP business. Third, the networking with NEEP and the other Regional Environmental Enforcement Association members has been an important resource in the success of New Hampshire's environmental enforcement programs.
- Are training or educational/research materials included in the membership? If so, is the cost included? Explain in detail. Yes, NEEP provides training materials to its members at its courses and meetings. The courses are free for New Hampshire as a full member, and training course attendees are reimbursed for their travel, hotel and meal expenses.
- Is the membership required to receive any federal grants or required in order to receive or participate in licensing or certification exams? Explain. No.
- Is there any travel included with this membership fee? Explain in detail any travel to include the number of employees involved, the number of trips, destination if known and purposes of membership supported trips. Yes, NEEP has one to two conference meetings each year for representatives hosted by a member state. One representative is reimbursed by NEEP for their expenses. Attendance to these conference meetings are determined by NHDES and AGO based on the program content. NEEP also offers two to three training courses per year and allows three to four reimbursable training slots per membership entity. As discussed above, NEEP reimburses attendees for their travel, hotel, and meal expenses.

- Which state agency employees are directly involved with this organization? (Indicate if they are members, voting members, committee members, and/or officers of the organization. NHDES Representative- Tyler Croteau, Waste Management Specialist IV, Hazardous Waste Management Bureau – NEEP Membership Representative/Voting Member/Administrative Committee Member, AGO Representative - K. Allen Brooks, Senior Assistant Attorney General, Chief, Environmental Protection Bureau.
- Explain in detail any negative impact to the State if the Agency did not belong to this organization. The state would not have up-to-date information on important state environmental enforcement cases or the ability to network with members of the Regional Environmental Enforcement Associations on multi-state environmental investigations. Most importantly, New Hampshire would lose the opportunity to train its staff through NEEP's training courses and representative conference meetings. The New Hampshire NHDES and AGO have been members of NEEP since its inception and its environmental enforcement programs have benefited and will continue to benefit greatly from the training, networking and other services provided by NEEP. If New Hampshire ceased its membership in NEEP, there is no other organization that could provide a comparable service, and the effectiveness of our environmental enforcement programs would be diminished.

NEEP membership provides New Hampshire with an outstanding service to remain current on new environmental enforcement developments in the regulatory, investigative and legal specialties. Membership in the past has been of great benefit to New Hampshire as we have been able to learn from other NEEP states' experiences and share such up-to-date information on a national basis with the other Regional Environmental Enforcement Associations. These dues are a very small investment for the value received from this organization in terms of sustaining our knowledge and ability to investigate and prosecute environmental crimes through administrative, civil and criminal processes.

We respectfully request your approval.
