Explanation

The New Hampshire Fish and Game Department is in need of engineering services, including environmental engineering and survey services, in support of the ongoing Statewide Public Boat Access Program. The Department continues to promote and develop access and maintenance projects. Presently there are five projects in various stages of development from conceptual evaluation, design and environmental review or construction. The Department works with individual land owners, municipalities and other state agencies to develop new sites and maintain existing sites.

The sites provide convenient and safe access to lakes, ponds, river and marine water bodies for use by the boating public. Maintenance of these facilities in good working condition is essential for stocking fisheries, law enforcement and promotion of a positive image to the public.

Twelve engineering firms expressed interest in providing engineering services. Three firms submitted qualifications information as prescribed. A four member selection committee evaluated the qualifications of the three respondent-firms and decided to interview each of the firms. Due to illness only a three member interview team evaluated the firms and selected one firm based on qualifications. The selected firm presented billing information for review and the Department negotiated the fee structure. Fees were not negotiated with other firms.

Respectfully submitted,

Glenn Normandeau
Executive Director
