Meeting Schedule Thursday, October 19

10:30 AM – 1:30 PM

Council of Board Administrators Forum (lunch provided)

Michelle Sigmund-Gaines

Karen Gordon

Designed for and by administrators, all board administrators are invited to attend. The CBA Forum is an opportunity for administrators to share information relevant to board functions, regulatory practices, practice standards and issues, licensing processes and security, and enforcement issues in the practice of physical therapy. Required for funded administrators. (Continued in afternoon session.)

1:45 PM – 3:15 PM

Combined Board Chairs & Administrators Meeting—Board Deliberations

Betsy Becker

Board deliberation is an important part of the decision-making process. It is a chance for board members to share their perspectives, learn from each other, and come to a consensus on the best course of action. This session will provide an opportunity to learn from the deliberations of several boards on important topics. Participants will hear about the process, the challenges, and the insights that have been gained. They will also have the opportunity to share their own experiences and insights.

Keynote: Understanding the Process of Committing Boundary Violations: How Regulators Can Respond

Catherine Caldicott

Boundary violations, especially those that are sexual in nature, are among the most troubling types of unprofessional conduct committed by healthcare professionals. This session will present a framework for understanding how smart, well-meaning, well-trained physical therapy professionals can abandon rational thinking and commit both sexual and non-sexual boundary violations. By exploring this process-oriented framework, regulators will learn a range of approaches to this type of professional misconduct, including when and how to intervene and how to increase their regulatory reach after a remedial intervention is completed.

10:35 AM – 11:45 AM

Update on Current FSBPT Initiatives

FSBPT Board of Directors and committee chairs

Learn the latest about initiatives FSBPT has been pursuing over the last few years, including new resources and efforts to help protect the public. What progress has been made? How can this work benefit your jurisdiction?

Impaired in the Age of Legalized Marijuana

Katie Dale

Phil Haworth

Jason Kaiser

This session will identify any potential challenges, share communication strategies from boards in states where marijuana use is legal, and explore lessons learned.

Putting the MPA to Work in Your Jurisdiction

Craig Miller

Sherise Smith

Enjeen Woolford

You may have heard the Ethics & Legislation Committee refer to the Model Practice Act as the set of "Lego instructions" to help a jurisdiction update its statutes. Learn about the recent MPA Workshop and how jurisdictions are using the MPA to build their own "Legoland" and modernize their practice acts.

The Guidelines for Continuing Professional Development – Past, Present, and Future

Mario Baker

Alyssa Gibbons

Anne Thompson

In this session, representatives from FSBPT's Continuing Competence Committee will discuss the current status of the three elements of the Guidelines for Continuing Professional Development - Jurisprudence/Ethics Assessment, Practice/Work Self-Inventory, Healthy Practice Self-Inventory - and the next steps to get the Guidelines ready for use by member boards. A member of the research team from Colorado State University, who helped develop the Healthy Practice Self-Inventory, will also provide an update on the pilot testing and revision process for the Healthy Practice resource.

Safe Haven Programs – Alternatives to Discipline in Times of Burnout, Mental Health, and Substance Use

Missy Anthony

Timothy Keck

Katie Stuart

Members of regulatory boards are all too familiar with the challenges that mental health and substance use disorders bring to the table. Burnout and stress are a root cause of many of the disciplinary actions that boards take. Offering confidential resources as an alternative is an important step for boards to consider in helping get a license holder back on the right track.

Passport to Practice: Decoding Credentialing in Physical Therapy

Betsy Becker

Julia Funaki

Jaime Nolan

Have you ever wondered how credentialing is done for non-CAPTE graduates? If so, this is the session for you as we decode the credentialing process for the non-CAPTE graduate. This session will review the document authentication process, services available at FCCPT, and how professional education courses are placed on the Coursework Evaluation Tool.

Keynote: Professionals Commit to Self-Regulation: How Can Medical Leaders Support This?

Gerald Hickson

Charles Reiter

This presentation will explore the relationships among unprofessional behaviors/performance, teamwork, and outcomes of care. Attendees will learn about the essential elements required (people, organization, and learning systems) for any practice, hospital, or health system to support professional accountability for all team members.

8:55 AM – 9:40 AM

Keynote: “Learnworthiness”: The Role of Peers in Maintenance of Competence and Professional Development

Zubin Austin

Peer-based strategies to support the maintenance of competence are increasingly relied upon in different professions. This presentation will review the educational and psychology literature to highlight mechanisms for peer-based professional development that support engagement, competency, and personal investment in professional practice. Balancing the engagement of peer learning and support with the need for psychometric rigor and defensibility is essential for regulators. Strategies for incorporating peer-based approaches within regulated professions will be reviewed and discussed.

9:40 AM – 10:05 AM

Keynote: Exploring Ways Regulators Can Interact with Other Patient Safety Efforts

Zubin Austin

Gerald Hickson

Charles Reiter

Keynote speakers will discuss the challenges, hurdles, and opportunities for regulatory boards to interact with peer and employer-based patient safety efforts. Attendees will have the opportunity to interact with the speakers and participate in a Q&A session.

Is There a Benefit of Continuing Education as a Spectator Sport?

Laurie Kendall-Ellis

Nancy Kirsch

Licensing boards have an obligation in their public protection role to encourage licensees to stay current and competent in their practice. Most clinicians choose to meet that professional obligation through taking continuing education courses. Professional continuing education has become "big business," and the quality of the courses cannot always be determined by the individual considering a particular course offering. A segment of the industry was asynchronous and well suited to meet the need when the pandemic required all courses to be remote. As courses return to in-person, the ease and accessibility of the remote format remains very attractive. Do Licensing Boards have a responsibility to consider the potential educational benefit of different styles of content delivery for professional continuing education? How is the value determined, what are the differences between learning formats, and is there a benefit of one format over another?

2023 NPTE Updates: Standard Review Outcomes and Alternative Item Types

Amy Bayliss

Jonathan Bird

Colleen Lettvin

Lorin Mueller

Mitch Wolden

This panel presentation consisting of FSBPT staff and NPTE volunteers will cover the transition of the NPTE to the 2024 Content Outlines and the introduction of video and scenario-based items. The presenters will discuss the overall process, progress in implementing the new content outlines, and the lessons we have learned. There will be plenty of time for questions and suggestions.

Management of (Mis)Information in Professional Regulation

Mark Staz

This session will focus on best practices for managing misinformation and disinformation inside and outside of regulatory organizations, as well as in the practices of our licensees. Participants will be led through a scenario involving misinformation and regulatory reactions to it. They will also have opportunities to work through challenging situations in the regulation of misinformation in a small group format. Key learnings from this session are intended to help inform organizational strategy regarding the management of information and help identify challenges and opportunities regulators may face in regulating misinformation and disinformation spread by licensees.

AI in Healthcare: Helping Regulators Navigate the Rapidly Changing Landscape

Carol Passarelli

We are currently in the Wild West of Artificial Intelligence (AI). As practitioners and healthcare systems look to adopt in a resistant-to-change workflow, we will identify major roadblocks facing regulators, clinicians, and the wider community as we attempt to safely move toward a more patient-centric and digitally-enabled future. Learn how Large Language Models (LLMs) and other AI models are trained and participate in a bio-ethical discussion on actionable steps we can take today to protect the public.

You Are my Sunshine: FSBPT's Membership Survey Results

Missy Anthony

Carl Fusco

Every five years, FSBPT's Board of Directors conducts a membership survey to gather information from the strongest part of the organization - its members. Find out more about the results of the survey, which informs the Board's strategic planning work, in this session.

The Public Protection "I.M.P.A.C.T.T." of the PT Compact

Kathy Arney

Jenny Lapnawan

Karen McIntyre

Kathy Miller

The PT Compact has a direct impact on many regulatory aspects of physical therapy practice, including Interstate Mobility, Protection, Access to Care, Travel, and Telehealth (IMPACTT). This session will focus on the Protection piece and is for jurisdictions that are considering joining the compact, as well as those that have joined but have yet to implement the efficiencies of automation to improve compliance with ELDD participation. The principles are applicable to all jurisdictions. Come learn from real world examples of how jurisdictions have implemented changes and added efficiencies to lighten the workload.

Awards Luncheon

David Relling

FSBPT will honor inductees into the Academy of Advanced Item Writers and recipients of the 2023 Outstanding Service Awards, President's Award, Excellence in Regulation Award, and Richard McDougall Long Term Service Award.

2:00 PM – 3:15 PM

Keynote: Trauma Informed Interviewing – Getting the Most From Your Investigation

Michael Milnor

Nancy Oglesby

Sexual assault victims frequently experience trauma, which impacts their ability to recall events. Understanding the neurobiology of trauma and learning how to interview through a trauma-informed lens is paramount to a successful interview. Trauma has unique effects on the brain and often affects the storing and recall of memories. Many sexual assault victims experience some degree of memory loss. Also, victims may be able to remember, in great detail, parts of the assault, but, when asked about other aspects, their memories may be fragmented or incomplete. Without understanding the impact of trauma, an interviewer may make the mistake of discrediting a victim's statement if elements of the narrative are imprecise or if a victim cannot recount an event in a clear chronological fashion.

ELDD: The Lifeguard is on Duty

Megan Certo

Karen McIntyre

Michele Thorman

The Examination, Licensure, and Disciplinary Database (ELDD) is our best tool to protect the public across jurisdictions. During this session, we will explain the purpose and role of the ELDD, the impact of the PT Compact on strengthening the ELDD, and how Consumer Protection Ratings (CPR) can guide your jurisdiction to contribute to the strength of the database with improved participation.

Breaking Down Barriers: Alternative Paths to Legal Practice

Craig Miller

Steven Scherger

Carl Sims

Sherise Smith

Historically, moving from one state to another to practice physical therapy was a linear and, at times, laborious process for the licensee. Come learn about all of the alternate pathways to legal practice that have emerged in the past few years, as well as information on the newly updated Telehealth Policy paper.

HRRRI Research Updates

Ellen Donald

Catherine Dower

Alyssa Gibbons

The Healthcare Regulatory Research Institute (HRRRI) is a non-profit organization established in 2017 by the Federation of State Boards of Physical Therapy (FSBPT). Attend this session to learn more about HRRRI's mission and vision, and gain a deeper understanding of some of its current research initiatives. Researchers in the areas of re-entry to practice and healthy practice will share their findings, and presenters will discuss how the strategic plan will guide future research efforts.
