1. Improving collection and use of BLS/OSHA data

Moderator: Les Boden

The focus of this group will be to provide suggestions to OSHA on improving employer recordkeeping and reporting practices and alternative ways to collect the data as well as suggestions to BLS for improving collection of SOII data and characterizing potential systematic biases in the SOII.

2. Surveying workers: Use of national/state surveys

Moderator: Theresa Schnorr

The focus of this group will be to provide suggestions on using existing population-based surveys and conducting stand-alone surveys of individuals/workers. The group will discuss regarding standardized questions, sample size considerations, frequency of administration, and use of automated coding tools, as well as uses of the data.

3. Reporting the magnitude in light of the undercount

Moderator: Larry Jackson

The focus of this group will be to provide suggestions on how to present annual data on work-related injuries and illnesses that better reflects the magnitude of the problems, given what is known about the undercount in the annual employer survey.

4. Exploring development of a multisource system for serious injuries

Moderator: Terry Bunn

The focus of this group will be to explore options for and provide suggestions on how to develop a cost effective multisource system for serious work-related injuries.
