EXPLANATION

This contract provides for aerial stocking and water sample collection (acid rain analysis) of remote, high altitude trout ponds. Each year NHFG stocks 47 remote ponds with fingerling trout, and or obtains water samples from approximately ten (10) remote ponds as part of a continuing study concerning the affects of acid rain. This is accomplished by hiring the services of a specially equipped helicopter and pilot skilled in hazardous flying in mountainous country.

The Inland Fisheries Division has worked with Joe Brigham, Inc. since 1983. Joe Brigham, Inc. has experienced pilots and excellent equipment and has cornered the market providing this specialized service, expertise and experience required to fly and work over rough terrain in the White Mountains and other hazardous flying areas in New Hampshire. This vendor has previously provided this very specialized service required for aerial stocking and obtaining water samples for acid rain studies. A bid for these services was submitted through the Bureau of Purchase and Property in January 2017, Joe Brigham, Inc. was the only bidder.

Respectfully submitted,

Glenn Normandeau
