EXPLANATION

eCommerce functionality is a component of the NHLC's NextGen project, which will integrate the various functional areas of the NHLC's business processes, from the retail stores and warehouse through back office financials and payroll, for a fully unified system. The eCommerce component will enable consumers and licensees to order products online and will enable the NHLC to ship directly to the consumer within New Hampshire. It will also afford licensees the ability to manage their accounts online and provide brokers with inventory management and enhanced reporting tools. Evenica Corp. worked on the eCommerce component as a subcontractor for AlfaPeople, Inc., which was the contractor engaged to develop, deploy and support the NextGen solution. Prior to August 2019, when the NHLC ended its contract with AlfaPeople, Evenica had completed a substantial portion of the design and development of the new eCommerce website. This contract is sole source because Evenica has proven itself to be a diligent and responsive partner, bringing value-added consulting and guidance on best practices for beverage distribution solutions. Evenica has a thorough understanding of the NHLC needs and business processes and will be able to pick up the project where it left off and take the eCommerce functionality to completion.

Evenica, an original software developer and Microsoft partner, is a recognized expert in eCommerce and systems integration. Over the past two decades, Evenica has developed and deployed customized enterprise grade software solutions to global brands, such as Paul Mitchell, the Dallas Cowboys, the Oakland Raiders and Shinola watches. Since 2009, Evenica has developed expertise in eCommerce solutions for alcohol beverage distribution, working with clients including: State of Ohio, Division of Liquor Control; Horizon Beverage, providing alcohol distribution, sales and marketing services throughout New England; Young's Market Company, a leader in wholesale and distribution of alcohol beverages in the western United States; and Alcanna, Canada's premier retailer of wine, spirits, beer and cannabis.

Based on the foregoing, I am respectfully requesting approval of the contract with Evenica Corp.

Respectfully submitted,

Joseph W. Mollica

2. Requirements and Scope Document – Describes NHLC's specific omni-channel eCommerce needs and maps them to the functionality deployed under section 2.1 of this Exhibit, and identifies additional desired functionality which may be deployed by either a Change Order to this SOW, or through future optimization. NHLC shall specify the design of Page Skins through mock-up sketches.
3. Preliminary Quality Assurance (QA) Document – Describes preliminary and high-level User Stories that form the basis of Test Scripts which are utilized in Quality Assurance (QA) and User Acceptance Testing (UAT). This is a living document that changes throughout the course of Deployment when additional details are added and changed as needed.
4. Project Schedule – Outlines the expected deliverables throughout the project, the anticipated schedule of achieved Milestones, and the scheduled Functionality that will be deployed by Sprint.

The Configuration & Customization Phase is sprint based. During this phase, Evenica shall complete the scheduled Deployment of each functionality including the necessary data integrations. Test Scripts for the scheduled functionality shall be verified by Evenica in the QA environment prior to Deployment to the UAT environment. The NHLC shall validate Test Scripts in the UAT environment in accordance with sprint schedule. The NHLC shall create issues and track resolutions in the Evenica ticketing system (JIRA). This project shall begin with a clean JIRA project so that everything can be tested from the start. This project Phase requires a high degree of collaboration between Evenica and the NHLC for the successful and incremental Deployment of the software platform. During this Phase, Evenica shall provide the following Deliverables:

1. Specified Functionality Deployed to UAT – Evenica shall deploy functionality to the UAT environment and the NHLC shall validate the scheduled Test Scripts.

4. Updated QA Document – User Stories and Test Scripts are added as needed and cross referenced with Requirements and Functionality. Test Scripts form the basis of QA and UAT activity.

5. Updated TD Document – Technical details from each Sprint are added as needed.

3.4. Phase 4 – Quality Assurance

The Quality Assurance (QA) Phase shall occur throughout the entire Sprint plan. Its purpose is to verify the successful Deployment of each functionality. Evenica QA personnel shall conduct testing within the QA environment. Testing shall be based on Test Scripts that evaluate whether the User Stories and Requirements are functioning as expected. This shall include regression testing as new sprints are introduced. After the Configuration and Customization Phase, one Sprint shall be dedicated entirely to end-to-end testing of the e4Commerce platform. The formal sprint hand-off process shall be as follows:

3.5. Phase 5 – User Acceptance Testing

The User Acceptance Testing (UAT) Phase occurs throughout the Sprint plan. Its purpose is to validate functionality in the UAT environment. NHLC shall be responsible for conducting Test Scripts in the UAT environment and shall ensure that designated personnel are available as required for scheduled UAT activities. The NHLC shall use the QA test scripts provided by Evenica as a base. The NHLC shall then add additional test scenarios based on the NHLC team's expertise of the business processes. UAT shall log Issues in the Evenica JIRA ticketing system and communicate when Test Scripts are not successful. As issues or defects are logged in the JIRA system, Evenica shall work to resolve them and communicate the resolution to the NHLC team. After the Quality Assurance Phase, one Sprint shall be dedicated entirely to end-to-end testing of the software platform in the UAT environment based on the End-to-End User Validation Check List. NHLC shall provide the necessary resources to complete User Acceptance Testing in accordance with the project schedule. It is the NHLC's responsibility to thoroughly test all changes made to their eCommerce solution during User Acceptance Testing. Any change to a business process after Go Live, even if that process is clearly documented in the project's original scope, will be considered a chargeable event and time will be billed to the NHLC as support and maintenance services to modify the process.

During this Phase, Evenica shall provide the following Deliverables:

The Pilot for both the B2C and B2B Release shall involve up to ten (10) users selected by the NHLC, up to five (5) outlet stores selected by the NHLC, and shall last for a total of two (2) weeks. Pilot Go-Live shall occur within 30 days post-delivery to UAT. Additional costs may be incurred if UAT is delayed and if the NHLC determines that the delay was caused by the NHLC. Any additional cost shall be subject to the Contract Amendment process in accordance with Section 18 of NH Form P-37.

During this Phase Evenica shall provide the following Deliverables:

    b. If it is an issue caused by inconsistent, missing or incorrect data provided by the NHLC;

    c. If Evenica needs to modify the Evenica code due to inconsistent, missing or incorrect data provided by the NHLC;

    d. If Evenica needs to modify the underlying data to resolve the issue (i.e. import, scripts);

    e. If it is a problem caused by an application that integrates to the e4Commerce B2C or B2B platforms;

    f. If it is a hardware or software-related problem (non-Evenica software such as Microsoft SQL);

    g. If a change is required due to events occurring outside Evenica (i.e. Credit Card Merchant alters its credit card processing web service);

    h. If the issue has been caused by changes made to the site by the NHLC;

    i. If assistance is required for database sizing, performance or data recovery;

    j. If additional NHLC training is required;

    k. If support is required to diagnose and/or resolve a unique data issue that was not caused by a bug in the e4Commerce B2C and B2B platforms, the e4integrate platform (i.e. user error or any condition listed above), or by any action of Evenica.

3.8. Risk Management

Projects involving software Deployment contain inherent risk elements, such as:
- key NHLC decision makers not attending planning sessions
- inability to make quick decisions
- scope creep
- lack of assigned resources to the project

- unplanned staff sick days and employee turnover
- delays in environment setup and configuration
- inconsistent or missing source data

Notwithstanding the above, Evenica recognizes that NHLC's competing business needs may, from time to time, require resources to be temporarily diverted from the project. Evenica and the NHLC shall actively plan and schedule resources needed to avoid risk elements, and shall maintain frequent and open dialogue on all issues that may affect scope, budget or timeline. Evenica and the NHLC shall work collaboratively to manage and minimize such risk elements. If necessary, Evenica and NHLC will mutually agree on adjusting project scope, budget or timeline to accommodate the unforeseen risk element.

3.9. Change Orders

This Exhibit is intended to set clear expectations for both parties regarding the specific project detailed herein. Any additional features or tasks not specifically listed in this Exhibit are considered out of scope.

It is not uncommon during a software deployment project for an unforeseen element to emerge that requires a change in functionality, technical specification, or other element that could impact scope, budget or timeline. Evenica shall reasonably accommodate such changes within the existing scope and budget of this Contract.

If any changes are required, the NHLC will provide Evenica with a Change Order. Within five business days of Evenica's receipt of a Change Order, Evenica shall advise the NHLC, in detail, of any impact on cost, the Timeline, or the scope of the Contract.

Evenica may request a change within the scope of the Contract by written Change Order, identifying any impact on cost, the timeline or the scope of the Contract. The State shall attempt to respond to the Contractor's requested Change Order within five (5) business days. Evenica and NHLC must approve all Change Orders in writing.

All Change Orders and Evenica's estimate for a NHLC requested change, will be acknowledged and responded to, by either accepting or rejecting the change in writing. If accepted, all Change Orders shall be subject to the Contract amendment process as specified in Section 18 of Form P-37.

4.0   TIMELINE

The project is estimated to take 16 weeks for the B2C Deployment and 20 weeks for the B2B Deployment from the date when Evenica resources can be scheduled. Evenica requires two weeks to schedule resources. This timeline requires available staff resources from both Evenica and NHLC, and complete and timely execution of all parties' respective responsibilities according to the project schedule. Actual project schedule will be created collaboratively by the Evenica and NHLC Project Managers during the Discovery Phase.

5.0 RESOURCE PLANNING

This section outlines the Resources required to deploy both the B2C and B2B systems. The plan includes Evenica and NHLC Resources as both are required to execute the project within the estimated timelines. Two-week sprints are identified along the sequential project phases. The NHLC team may choose to allocate additional resources for a lesser % of time rather than one resource for the full % of time. Administration time in this project is calculated based on a project duration of 36 weeks. Project overrun beyond this timeframe, due to NHLC changes or delays, may require a Contract Amendment to support extra administration, which shall be subject to section 18 of NH Form P-37.

Evenica shall assign the following Deployment team to this project:

TITLE	RESPONSIBILITY
Director of Professional Services	Executive sponsorship
Project Manager	Project management
Business Analyst	Identify, document and track business requirements
Solution Architect	Solution design, management of software stack, DevOps assurance
Developer – User Experience (UX)	User interface development
Developer – Back End (BE)	Database and logic development
Developer – Integrations (INTG)	Data ETL between systems
Quality Assurance (QA) Technician	Quality assurance testing and validation
Systems Engineer (OPS)	Specify deploy and configure system environments

1.0 ONGOING SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE

Evenica warrants that Supported Software, specified below, will operate and conform to the Specifications, terms and requirements of the Contract. Evenica shall maintain and support the following Supported Software through the Contract Completion Date, as defined in General Terms and Condition Form, P37, paragraph 1.7, and in accordance with the Contract:

> ➢ e4Commerce – Beverage B2C (e4110)
> ➢ e4Commerce – Beverage B2B (e4120)
> ➢ e4Integrate – Enterprise Orchestration (e4220)

NHLC may request assistance to support hardware and other software applications not considered Supported Software, and Evenica shall reasonably endeavor to support such requests, however resolution time objectives shall be dependent on the systems and data that Evenica has access to and authority over. Examples of this support are issues such as: regular maintenance of database servers, troubleshooting hardware and performance issues, fixing or curating NHLC's inconsistent, missing or incorrect data, integration errors between systems outside of Supported Software. If requested by the NHLC, Evenica shall apply best efforts to resolve issues outside of the Supported Software and shall communicate to the NHLC estimated resolution times and effort before commencing work.

Efficient and successful support services require a mutual commitment and partnership between NHLC and Evenica. The methodologies of efficient support and the responsibilities of successful partnership are outlined in this Exhibit.

2.0   SUPPORT SERVICES

Ongoing support shall include day to day production assistance to ensure business continuity from Supported Software.   Support provided by Evenica shall include issue ticketing and tracking, issue diagnosing and triaging, resolution of issues, quality assurance ("QA") and deployment of changes, project management and development of "Minor Enhancements" and "Major Enhancements" as defined below.

As part of the ongoing support and maintenance services, the Contractor shall respond and resolve the following:

1. Code Defects, which are defined as defects caused by erroneous piece(s) of code or poor quality of the code. Code Defects shall be removed or repaired to maintain the quality of the e4Commerce software. Support services addressing Code Defects shall take precedence over Minor Enhancements. Evenica shall notify NHLC if the support of the Code Defects impacts scheduling of Minor Enhancements.

2. Requirements Deficiencies, which are defined as changing or missing requirements – input, output or process – that prevents the desired function of the e4Commerce software. Requirements Deficiencies shall be addressed through Minor and Major Enhancement projects.

    2.1. "Minor Enhancements" are additional features or functionality added to existing applications to cure Requirements Deficiencies in the Supported Software, and are small projects that shall not exceed 40 hours of development each. Minor Enhancements shall be done to improve the customization, quality and functionality of the software and shall be applied when the application's basic functionality is working properly.

    2.2. "Major Enhancements" are larger projects that exceed 40 hours of development. Major Enhancements shall be managed by Evenica's Professional Services Group, which is a different team than Evenica's Support Group, consequently resource scheduling for Major Enhancements is independent of resource scheduling for support services and Minor Enhancements. Major Enhancements shall be managed as follows:

        1. The NHLC shall request all enhancement projects through JIRA, Evenica's ticket resolution system.

        2. Requested enhancements that exceed 40 hours of development, as determined by Evenica's ticket triage function, shall be called Major Enhancements.

3. Major Enhancements shall require a designated Project Manager (PM), project plan, Work Breakdown Structure (WBS) and will be tracked through a weekly Budget to Actual (B2A) report that presents the applied effort towards the project and resulting progress.

4. If deemed a Major Enhancement, Evenica shall propose a PM to conduct a discovery exercise and create a proposal. The NHLC must approve or decline the PM and the Proposal assignment by responding accordingly in the assigned ticket.

5. Evenica's PM shall assemble a team that may include a Business Analyst (BA) and Solution Architect (SA) to create the Proposal, all of whom shall follow the Prepaid Support Block Program.

6. Evenica's team shall work with the NHLC, and the NHLC shall make the necessary resources available, to define the requirements of the Major Enhancement in sufficient detail to create a proposal that includes a project plan and WBS. Evenica shall submit the proposal for the NHLC's consideration.

7. NHLC shall accept or decline the proposal through the assigned ticket.

8. If the NHLC approves the proposal, the project shall be performed under the terms of the proposal and all work and resources shall be financed through the Prepaid Support Block Program.

3.0   SUPPORT PROCEDURES

3.1. Issue Prioritization

When issues arise, they shall be assigned a Severity Code, which identifies a level of importance based on the issue's impact on business operations. Appropriate classification of the issue shall allow for the proper scheduling of resources, organization of the backlog, and appropriate support effort. The following Severity Codes schedule shall be used to determine issue priority:

SEVERITY CODE	PRIORITY	DEFINITION
1 - Critical	Urgent	Show stopper. A problem has made a business critical application nonresponsive, unusable or unavailable and no identified workaround exists.
2 - High	High	A problem has caused a business critical application to malfunction, or a function to become unusable or unavailable, but a workaround exists.
3 - Medium	Medium	A problem has diminished a non-critical business function, but the functionality still performs as specified in the user documentation. Non-mission critical functinality is malfunctioning. System works, but not to peak capacity. Errors have a "work around" and do not prevent testing of other use cases.
4 - Low	Low	Errors that have workarounds and do not prevent business functions from operating.

3.2. Responsibilities of NHLC

Successful support and issue resolution is dependent on Evenica and the NHLC working together in partnership. The following recommended procedures will greatly help with efficient and successful issue resolution.

1. The NHLC shall fully explore the problem before making a support request. The NHLC shall ascertain all the functions being impacted, determine if the problem is unique to one piece of hardware and if reasonable, replicate the problem on other hardware, and determine if the problem occurred after changes to hardware or system configurations, or following any changes to data structures.

2. The NHLC shall classify the problem by assigning it a Severity Code and shall immediately log the issue in Evenica's ticket resolution system.

3. If the issue is urgent and needs immediate attention, the NHLC shall create an Urgent Ticket and then email and call Evenica's support group and inform them of the ticket number assigned to the issue.

4. The NHLC shall be readily accessible to help Evenica's support group to identify root causes and resolve the issue. This may include access and changes to systems that are outside of Evenica's responsibility.

3.3. Contact Procedures

Evenica shall use the JIRA platform for its ticket resolution system, issue reporting, triaging, tracking and resolution workflows. NHLC shall be given access credentials to JIRA and is strongly encouraged to begin all support requests through this system. Evenica's Support Manager shall onboard designated NHLC personnel to Evenica's ticket resolution system at the start of the support and maintenance period and provide training as necessary throughout the duration of this Contract.

In the event of a critical problem that demands immediate attention, Evenica shall provide a fast-track process for NHLC to email or call a specific Evenica employee who has personal knowledge of the NHLC's Supported Software and infrastructure. Evenica employees shall be available during core business hours: 9AM-5PM ET on regular business days.

For urgent support required outside of core business hours, NHLC shall follow the Escalation Procedure.

3.4. Escalation Procedure

If an issue is not resolved to the NHLC's satisfaction, or if an urgent issue arises outside of Evenica's business hours, Evenica offers the following escalation procedure:

1. NHLC shall immediately open an Urgent Ticket in Evenica's ticket resolution system. Evenica support staff shall be immediately notified by email when an Urgent Ticket is created.

2. For Urgent Support, NHLC shall email Evenica's assigned Support Lead. (Contact details to be provided prior to project kickoff).

3. NHLC shall call a dedicated support hot line which shall be monitored by an on-call Support Lead. (Contact details to be provided prior to project kickoff)

4. If Evenica does not respond within 30 minutes of the Urgent Ticket creation, then NHLC shall directly contact the following escalation points in the following order. Contact details for each escalation point shall be provided by Evenica prior to the commencement of support and maintenance services.

    - First Escalation Point: Account Manager
    - Second Escalation Point: Support Manager
    - Third Escalation Point: Executive Sponsor

4.0 SERVICE LEVEL OBJECTIVES

Evenica shall respond and resolve Issues as specified below.

4.1. Response Time Objective

Response Time is the period between notifying Evenica Support by email or phone of an issue and receiving an email or telephone response acknowledging the issue. The Severity Code shall be used to determine the appropriate response time as detailed below.

SEVERITY CODE	INITIAL RESPONDER	RESPONSE TIME Core-Business Hours (Regular Business Days 8AM – 5PM ET)	RESPONSE TIME Outside Core-Business Hours (5PM-8AM ET & WEEKENDS & HOLIDAYS)
1 – Critical	Developer	Within 30 minutes	Within 1 hour
2 – High	Developer	Within 1 hour	Within 4 hours
3 – Medium	Account Manager	Within 1 business day	Within 1 business day
4 – Low	Account Manager	Within 5 business days	Within 5 business days

4.2. Resolution Time Objective

Resolution Time is the period between acknowledging the Issue and the point in time when the Issue is resolved to the satisfaction of NHLC. The Severity Code shall be used to determine the appropriate resolution time as detailed below. If the issue is not resolved within the defined target timeframe, continuous effort shall be applied by Evenica until the issue is resolved. If at any time during the duration of this project, Evenica becomes aware that a Resolution Time will exceed the objectives described below for any other reason, Evenica shall notify the NHLC as soon as they become aware or, at a minimum, within the time established below.

SEVERITY CODE	RESOLUTION TIME Core-Business Hours (Regular Business Days 8AM – 5PM ET)	RESOLUTION TIME Outside Core-Business Hours (5PM-8AM ET & WEEKENDS & HOLIDAYS)
1 – Critical	4 Hours unless it is communicated that the resolution will require additional time due to the effort involved	I Business Day
2 – High	I Business Day unless it is communicated that the resolution will require additional time due to the effort involved	2 Business Days
3 – Medium	5 Business Day unless it is communicated that the resolution will require additional time due to the effort involved	5 Business Days
4 – Low	5 Business Days unless it is communicated that the resolution will require additional time due to the effort involved	5 Business Days

5.0   SUPPORT AGREEMENT

For the duration of this Contract, the NHLC shall participate in Evenica's Prepaid Support Block Program as outlined in Section 5.1.

5.1. Prepaid Support Block Program

The Prepaid Support Block Program shall give the NHLC priority support over other clients who have a Time and Materials (T&M) support agreement, increasing speed of support and reducing administrative burden on all parties.

The Prepaid Support Block Program for the NHLC shall be structured as follows:

- NHLC shall purchase prepaid support blocks in 50-hour increments.
- Evenica shall meet Service Level Objectives outlined in Section 4.0.
- Evenica shall charge the NHLC a discounted hourly rate based on the size of the block purchased:

Hours	Hourly Rate	Block
