EXPLANATION

The National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors, NASCUS, is the primary resource and voice of the 48 state governmental and U.S. territorial agencies that charter, regulate and examine the nation's state-chartered credit unions.

State credit union regulators formed NASCUS in 1965 to ensure the safety and soundness of state-chartered credit unions. Today, it represents the interests of the state credit union agencies before Congress, defends the dual chartering system and advances state agency and examiner education programs.

NASCUS is also the primary resource for regulatory, legislative and compliance information for the state credit union regulatory agencies.

The following are the standard organization dues and membership questions and answers for Governor and Council approval.

1. How long has this organization been in existence and how long has this agency been a member of this organization?

State credit union regulators formed the National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors (NASCUS) in 1965. The NASCUS mission is to enhance state credit union supervision and advocate for a safe and sound credit union system. It represents the interests of all state credit union supervisors before U.S. Congress and acts as a liaison between state agencies and the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). NASCUS also developed a training program for state examiners. The New Hampshire Banking Department (NHBD) has been a member since 1971.

2. Is there any other organization which provides the same or similar benefits which your agency belongs to?

No. NASCUS is the only organization dedicated to the defense and promotion of the state credit union charter and the autonomy of state credit union regulatory agencies.

3. How many other states belong to this organization and is your agency the sole New Hampshire state agency that is a member?

NASCUS includes 47 regulatory agencies (Delaware, South Dakota and Wyoming have no laws permitting state-chartered credit unions.). NHBD is the sole member from the State of NH due to the purpose of this organization.

4. How is the dues structure established? (Standard fee for all states, based on population, based on other criteria, etc)

NASCUS membership is on a fiscal year basis (July 1 – June 30), and annual dues are calculated based on the total assets under agency supervision. NHBD regulates 13 credit unions with total assets of $5.6 billion as of the most recent financial reports (March 31, 2013).

5. What benefit does the state receive from participating in this membership?

Membership allows interaction with other state and federal agencies and to have representation in challenging situations. NASCUS provides training opportunities for state bank examiners.

6. Are training or educational/ research materials included in the membership? If so, is the cost included? Explain in detail.

Educational/research materials include conferences, schools and programs, informational webinars, numerous publications, press releases, and facts/figures. NASCUS membership does not directly cover the training cost; however, the cost of training is reimbursed by the NCUA in full. NHBD does not incur NASCUS training expenses.

7. Is the membership required to receive any federal grants or required in order to receive or participate in licensing or certification exams? Explain.

No.

8. Is there any travel included with this membership fee? Explain in detail any travel to include the number of employees involved, the number of trips, destination if known and purposes of membership supported trips.

No. NCUA covers travel expenses for NASCUS meetings and training. NHBD typically sends one or two members of its examination staff to the NASCUS sponsored annual State System Summit – locations vary across the country. For 2013, the annual summit will be held in Coeur D' Alene, Idaho.

Throughout the year, NASCUS holds numerous teleconferences where members/participants phone in from around the country; discussion topics include circumstances that collectively impact the regulatory system and allow participants to gain important information.

9. Which state agency employees are directly involved with this organization? (Indicate if they are members, voting members, committee members, and/or officers of the organization.)

The Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, Chief Bank Examiner, and Banking Division examiners are involved with NASCUS. None of the aforementioned are committee members or officers.

Regulator membership in the Association is available to the state agency responsible for the supervision of state-chartered credit unions in a state, the District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. The state agency responsible for the supervision of state-chartered credit unions in a state, the District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be represented by the state official having responsibility for the supervision of state-chartered credit unions in that jurisdiction or by a representative, duly designated by such state official, and who is an employee of the state agency or department of that jurisdiction. Every regulator member shall be entitled to one vote on issues brought properly before the membership.

10. Explain in detail any negative impact to the State if the Agency did not belong to this organization.

To effectively fulfill its mission, NHBD must continue to interact and partner with other regulators at the state and federal levels. This is a key and lasting characteristic of the financial institution regulatory system. NASCUS facilitates this interaction relative to credit unions; the Conference of State Bank Supervisors (CSBS) accomplishes a similar mission relative to banks. Regulation and supervision is not stagnant – it evolves and changes, often-times to a significant degree. Consistency is imperative.

Discontinuing NHBD's membership would result in the following, detrimental impacts:

- ability to defend NHBD's interests, particularly on a national scale, would be significantly reduced;
- loss of mechanism for collective communications with our peers (regulators from other states);
- loss of centralized information source regarding current and emerging regulatory issues; and
- loss of training/developmental opportunities.

In summary, NHBD would certainly become more isolated and would lose efficiencies and effectiveness.

INVOICE

Annual dues for the fiscal year July 1, 2013 through June 30, 2014 are calculated on the amount of assets your agency supervises, based on the March 31, 2013 call report data available to you.

- The first step in this process is to ascertain the correct amount of assets your agency supervises at the end of the first quarter, March 31, 2013.
- Once you have the assets amount, please fill in the correct category in the dues calculator worksheet attached also attached to this email.
- The calculation will process the formula and give you the amount due.
- Return the invoice along with a share draft or authorize a payment by ACH by July 31, 2013, the due date for renewing membership in NASCUS for Fiscal Year 2013-2014.
